Advance Man For Alliance Chautauqua is in Town Today

Paul A. Adams, advance man for the Alliance chautauqua, arrived in the city this morning and will spend a couple of days here seeing that the preliminary work is started off in good shape. He is conferring with the heads of the committees and seeing that the advertising matter is properly distributed.

Mr. Adams assures the people of Alliance and vicinity that the "program de luxe" for this season, which is in the city from July 6 to 11, inclusive, is the best ever presented.

The program includes "The Rondoliers," who present a big musical program the afternoon of the first day with a concert in the evening. Clarence L. Burgdörfer, the "Joy Night" man, with his character impersonations, appears the first night. On the afternoon and evening of the second day Alice Phillips, dramatic soprano and William Phillips, operatic baritone, will present two concerts of surprising musical excellence. Dr. Frank Elwood Gordon, the Abraham Lincoln of the chautauqua both in stature, intellect and oratory, will give his lecture, "Shooting the Goal," in the evening of the second day.

On the afternoon and evening of the third day the Metropolitan Male trio will present varied music of the meritorious and inspiring sort, and in the evening Judge Fred G. Bale of the Columbian juvenile court will speak on "The Fourth Line of Defense."

The program for the fourth day will be presented by the United Symphony orchestra, both afternoon and evening. For the first time in the west a symphony orchestra is presented. On the afternoon of the fifth day the New England Male quartette will present a full program, with a concert in the evening. These young men add worthwhile selections on mandolin, guitar, banjo and trombone in addition to the ordinary offerings of a male quartet. Ex-Governor Edward W. Hoch of Kansas, will speak that evening on "America Today."

Dr. Henry B. Burns will lecture on the afternoon of the sixth day on "Chords and Discords." This is his twelfth consecutive season in chautauqua work and his lecture is filled with sound common sense. That evening, in closing the season, the Whales Chautauqua players will present the play, "Too Much Business," a comedy, mystery and love entertainment all united into an exciting game of business, where the creed of a cult attempts to run business on the unsound doctrine of its belief.

The program on Sunday, July 10th, will be consistent with the sacred character of the day.

Electricity on Farms to Save Increased Cost of Gasoline Motors

"Electricity can solve the problem of Western farm power," declares the editor of Sunset in the July issue, discussing the acute western farm problem arising from the fact of the increased cost of oil and gasoline.

"The farmer using internal combustion motors as a source of farm power must go on operating the engines, especially if he pumps water for irrigation. Last year the farmer did not worry except about the supply of fuel; he expected record prices for his crops. This year it is different. He knows now that crop prices will be low, some of last year's bills are still unpaid and as a result every dollar that succeeds in squeezing its way out of his pockets is covered with perspiration from the effort."

"The prices of all petroleum products are still high and will never be much lower. The increasing demand will keep them up. Higher costs at the well, higher refinery expenses, higher freight rates lift the retail price until the pump farmer of the west finds his fuel bill too high, reduces his acreage or quite altogether. Yet there is a way out. Electricity will solve the problem."

"Where hydroelectric power is available, its cost has not increased in the same ratio as petroleum power, therefore the change from oil to electricity is going on as fast as lines can be built and equipment installed. Even where water power is not now available, farmers are getting together here and there, abandoning their individual plants and planning the erection of central stations equipped with Diesel type engines that burn low-cost crude oil in the cylinders. When Diesel motors are used to operate electric generators, the resulting power can be delivered to the farmer under right conditions far more cheaply than he can generate his own power with an individual distillate engine."

Since a hot drink failed to revive the only gorilla in the United States, it is cited that gorillas do not live long in this country. It may be that after a gorilla has sampled one of our drinks it doesn't want to live here.

Angora Wrestler Takes "Champion" To a Cleaning

Angora, Neb. — Wrestling fans which included delegations from Alliance, Bridgeport and Bayard are elated over the finish wrestling match staged at Angora between Omer Kingry, local middleweight wrestler, and the "much touted" middleweight champion, Jack Ryan.

Ryan, who has been touring the country challenging all comers for time limit, met with the local man twice before at Bridgeport in each event of which Kingry was able to stay the required time limit. While rain which fell throughout the evening prevented many from attending, it did not dampen the ardor of the fans who declare it the best match "ever pulled off in these parts."

Kingry was declared the winner after an hour and nine minutes of the most gruelling work on the part of both contestants, in nearly all of which Kingry was the aggressor, every minute being full of action. Kingry secured the first fall in twenty-eight minutes after punishing his man severely, however, Ryan came back strong and secured the second fall in the quick time of nine minutes.

After twenty-nine minutes of the third fall had elapsed, Ryan in attempting to escape from a dangerous position in which Kingry was wearing him down, concentrated all his strength in throwing his body free, fell through the ropes and to the floor completely exhausted, Ryan's manager conceding the match, he being unable to go on.

Upon regaining consciousness staggered to the ringside and waving a manager and trainers, challenged Kingry to another match which was promptly accepted by Kingry's manager. Kingry who is an active farmer of this district, not wishing to undergo training at this time, will arrange to meet Ryan Labor day, the match will probably be staged at one of the larger western Nebraska cities.

Glen Sanders, formerly two years with the Mills Mercantile company of Gordon, and an expert clothing man, has taken a position with the W. R. Harper Department store.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrokey of Holton, Kans., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Calvin D. Walker. They motored through from Kansas and report the roads in fair condition for tourist travel.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Moore of Gering are visiting at the home of Mrs. Moore's father, L. M. Hawkins, at Berea. Mr. Moore will be remembered as Lura Hawkins, graduate of Alliance high school.

Mrs. T. H. Deering returned Sunday morning from Holdrege where she attended the state Sunday school convention as delegate from the Methodist Episcopal school. She gave a very interesting report.

A Different Anniversary Gift.

Wedding anniversary presents are many, yet even considering this, it is difficult to find something that is different and yet appropriate.

Why not give your wife a really "different" gift this year? Have her heavy, wide wedding ring made over into one of those beautiful narrow circlets which are now being worn.

She need not hesitate because she is afraid the sentiment will be entirely lost. The metal of the original ring will remain intact.

The result will be a beautiful and modern ring, a present that will be most unique and one that will delight your wife.

Four Hundred Deputies Will Be Required to Enforce State Lens Law

Adoption of the Connecticut specifications for automobile headlight lenses in Nebraska was decided on at a meeting of road patrolmen and law enforcement officers held in Lincoln recently and presided over by State

Engineer Johnson.

Every road patrolman—there are more than 400 of them in the state—will be made a deputy sheriff to enforce the bill passed by the legislature in April which makes it unlawful for individuals, firms or corporations to drive or have driven any motor vehicle not equipped with "lawful lenses."

These men will combine their efforts with those police officials throughout the state in a rigid enforcement of the law. It is provided that violators shall be fined from $10 to $50. A penalty is placed on automobile merchants who sell cars, not those that sell lenses, which do not conform with the law, the bill provides.

It is the duty of the department of public works to issue annually a printed list of approved motor vehicle lenses designating the candle power of light bulbs to be used with the different lenses.

The law does not apply to tourists driving through the state for a period of 30 days providing they have complied with their own state laws in the matter.

To date, the state highway department has approved the following lenses: Violet Ray, Macbeth, Osgood, Schaler, Liberty, Raydex, McKee and Warner-Patterson.

One thing can be said for Great Britain's strikes: They nearly always threaten to assume the proportions of a war.

ONE MINUTE STORE TALK

"You folks have the right idea in 'Trading Dollars' this season. If every store had the courage to face the issue on this common-sense basis of doing business, what a sweeping readjustment would occur and every man in America would benefit thereby, most of all the stores that took the lead. No wonder you folks are the busy store of Alliance," remarked a customer who travels from coast to coast.
